

“Warner Bros. had an outstanding experience filming New Zealand’s first ever series of Survivor in Nicaragua. The Nicaraguan government were extremely accommodating and even provided additional assistance at key stages of the production. Warner Bros. engaged more than 30 locals to work in a variety of roles on the production who all did an amazing job. Their prior experience working on the U.S. production of Survivor proved invaluable to us and we wouldn’t hesitate to return for future productions. “

- Greg Heathcote, Executive Producer, Warner Bros. International Television Production New Zealand.

“We wanted to film our first series of Survivor New Zealand in an exciting and exotic location and Nicaragua has proven the perfect choice. The stunning coastline, lush jungle and diverse wildlife adds another dimension to what is going to be a fantastic series.”

- Tony Manson, Network Executive, TVNZ